GARBAGE CITY

Angry Pourakarmikas dump garbage on streets

Used paper plates and water bottles strewn around Chamaraja Circle this morning.

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (RKB&KS)- The indefinite strike by Pourakarmikas of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has caused a complete breakdown of garbage clearance and sanitation services in many areas. This morning, roads and central verges in popular markets and commercial areas including D. Devaraja Urs Road, Sayyaji Rao Road, K.R. Circle, Chamaraja Circle, Shivarampet Road, Dhanvanthri Road and surrounding areas were reeking of garbage that had accumulated over three days.

To make matters worse, striking Pourakarmikas poured garbage and muck on the main roads to express their anger and some MCC officials — from the top to bottom level — were forced to pick up brooms and clean the streets, covering their noses.

Many two-wheeler riders skidded while moving on the roads that was covered with trash. Luckily, they were not injured. Garbage woes were made worse by heavy rain that lashed the city today afternoon. Apart from stinking and slippery roads, tonnes of garbage washed away into the drains, clogging them. It will be a Herculean task to clear those drains. With a resolution of the demand of the sanitation workers' unions nowhere in sight, the situation is likely only to deteriorate.

District Minister G.T. Devegowda and Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh met the striking Pourakarmikas today afternoon where the Pourakarmikas decided not to call off the strike. MCC officers were pinning their hopes on the Minister's persuasion abilities. A meeting has now been convened at DC office tomorrow with Pourakarmika leaders.

Living in fear

Positive outlook and optimism under all circumstances are the watchwords coming from some quarters, ostensibly to save people bugged by depression by keeping alive their hopes in life ahead. The prescription not to lose heart and equanimity in times of difficulty in facing the challenges of daily life has acquired importance and value on a scale and extent not witnessed anytime in the past, given the ongoing unrest across the country in particular and virtually all the regions across the entire world in general, which nobody who give even a cursory glance at the printed matter in the columns of dailies in all languages, including this one can miss. Towns and cities, such as Mysuru, which have hosted residents of diverse culture, faith, ethnicity, tongues, caste, creed, economic status and so on for long, living in undiluted harmony too have begun to witness societal unrest, driving the people to harbour a sense of fear like never before, particularly from the angle of safety of life, limbs and possessions.

We are in an era of parents of school-bound children, particularly in overcrowded cities, living in a state of fear until their off-springs' return home unharmed, the elderly members in the family offering daily prayers for the safety of the family's wage-earners while they are out of sight attending to their work in offices, factories, business establishments, schools, colleges and so on.

The attribute of fearlessness on the part of hardcore criminals and that of law-abiding citizens are different kettles of fish, while the daredevil acts of circus artistes, watched in utter fear of mishap by the spectators, stand for fearlessness of an entirely different class. The nation's legendary monk, Swami Vivekananda (1863-1902) had this to say: "In this world we work through fear of others, we talk through fear, we think through fear, alas." He had the conviction that fear is death. The renowned American humorist has been quoted as saying: It is curious that physical courage should be so common in the world and moral courage so rare.

Fear of law and respect for the land's code of rules to be complied with for an orderly society seem to be divided by a thin line. To make a long story short, those who show scant respect for any law and violate with disdain in a show of fearlessness not only hurt the fellow-citizens but also instil a sense of fear in them. More need not be said about fear pervading the land and bugging the gullible masses.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

When BJP MP, sorry, now Congress Minister in the Punjab government, Navjot Singh Sidhu hugged the Pakistani Army Chief Qamar Javed Bajwa, he was accused of embracing the enemy. Sidhu made a splash as a comic act on TV but he was soon forced to realise that hugging Pakistan's Army Chief is no laughing matter. But then those who screamed "anti-national" have clearly not heard of the phrase, keep your friends close and your enemies closer. Sidhu claimed that he spontaneously hugged Bajwa when the Pak Chief promised access to Indian pilgrims to Kartarpur Sahib Gurdwara. Faith, after all, is about clasping each other in love. Besides, when it comes to lavishing jhappiyan pappiyan, Punjabis on both sides of the Line of Control like to practice the line of no control. The attention was supposed to be on new Pakistan PM Imran Khan, but it was Sidhu who became the man of the match. On India and Pakistan, the question is to hug or not to hug? PM Modi and then PM Nawaz Sharif not only hugged but also linked hands in 2015, not to mention the PM's hugplomacy with various State Heads. While many in India opined that the Pakistan Army Chief must never be huggable, others think it's best that neighbours live by the motto, aa gale lag jaa.— Sagarika Ghose in The Times of India

Mayor put on stocks for poor job service

San Buenaventura: The residents of San Buenaventura, a small town in northern Bolivia, made good use of their constitutional right to social justice by putting their Mayor, Javier Delgado, in stocks for an hour, to let him know that they are not satisfied with his service.

Photos of the disgraced mayor sitting on the ground with one leg trapped in the medieval restraining device while surrounded by angry townspeople have been doing the rounds on South-American social media and news sites.

Daniel Salvador, a native of San Buenaventura, said that mayor Delgado had been punished for not fulfilling his commitments to the local community, lying to them and not making them his priority when they ask for an audience.

This is actually the third time that mayor Javier Delgado got a taste of social justice during his two-and-half year term.

World Records for singing in 102 languages

Dubai: A 12-year-old Indian girl living in Dubai, recently shattered two Guinness World Records at the same time by singing songs in 102 different languages during an epic concert that lasted 6 hours and 15 minutes.

Suchetha Satish, the seventh grade student at the Indian High School in Dubai, started preparing to break the world record for singing in most languages in a single concert just over a year.

She already enjoyed singing in several Indian languages, like Hindi, Malayalam and Tamil, as well as English, but she had always been fascinated by foreign languages, and this was an opportunity to learn as many of them as she could and also leave her mark on the world.

On Jan. 25, she stunned the crowd by singing in 102 languages for 6 hours and 15 minutes.

Slow down at humps and barricades

Sir,

The main purpose of fixing metal barricades or constructing a road hump is to ensure that all motorists slow down at this point. Humps or barricades are fixed in junctions to enable smooth flow of vehicles in all directions.

But unfortunately in our city many of the motorists — especially the two-wheelers increase their vehicle speed when they approach the humps or barricades.

A law-abiding motorist will find it difficult to cross a junction with the presence of such motorists who do not care for their safety or safety of other motorists.

Motorists should slow down when they approach a barricade or a road hump and ensure that they do not cause inconvenience to other motorists.

Centre cuts fuel price by Rs. 2.50 a litre

New Delhi, Oct.5- Finance Minister Arun Jaitley yesterday announced that the Centre has decided to effect a cumulative cut of Rs. 2.50 per litre on Petrol and Diesel, with the Centre absorbing Rs. 1.50 of this and oil marketing companies Re. 1.

All rate cuts have come into effect from last midnight.

Arun Jaitley has also asked all the States to match the Centre's Rs. 2.50 cut with an equivalent reduction in their respective VAT rates on fuel, thus making the total benefit to consumers Rs. 5 per litre.

Gauri murder case one of the best detections: City Top Cop

'Use of technology, scanning millions of call records and scientific analysis helped Special Investigation Team crack the sensational murder'

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (MK&BCT)- Cracking journalist Gauri Lankesh murder case took more than 9 months of telephone interceptions and physical trailing of suspects. Seconds before killing her on Sept. 5 last year, the attacker appears in the CCTV camera footage for a mere four seconds and the Police knew that he was a trained shooter.

This was the only clue the Special Investigation Team (SIT) had for the first three months of its investigation into the Gauri Lankesh murder case. Later, the SIT launched a massive surveillance programme, with the hope of finding a needle in a haystack.

The SIT collected call details from 15 days prior to the killing and the information was stored in a server built exclusively for the investigation. The team then heard calls, conversation by conversation, made by more than 100 telephone numbers. Their patience paid off. The SIT intercepted the call of a man with a tendency to boast, and after that, over the next nine months, the team identified the gang behind the murder.

The above details were provided by City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subrahmanyeswara Rao, who went on to say that the cracking of the case can be called one of the best detections ever made by the State Police in the last three to four decades.

At an interaction with the students of journalism on 'Media and Police', organised by the Department of Studies in Mass Communication and Journalism at Manasagangothri last evening, the Commissioner said: "I have served in the Police Department for more than 18 years and looking at the Gauri case, I had my own apprehensions about detecting the case as there were many blind spots. The killers had planned the operation meticulously and had left no clues. The case was a challenge that was successfully handled by the SIT."

Elaborating, he said that the efficient use of technology, forensic sciences, call and mobile tower location, connecting calls all helped the SIT to crack the case. "Investigators adapted certain investigation methods on the lines of Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and assessed 10 million call details and also the footages of closed circuit TV cameras," the Commissioner said.

Using a technique called "forensic gait analysis", the Directorate of Forensic Sciences in Gujarat — which is equipped to analyse video footage of walking styles of people — provided a report that confirmed Parshuram Ashok Waghmare was the killer.

"The gait analysis was done by comparing video footage of the shooting that was captured on a CCTV camera located at Gauri's home with the scene that was recreated and videographed with the suspected shooter (Waghmare) following his arrest," he said.

The Commissioner also spoke about social media, role of media in democracy. "It is necessary for the Police and the media to maintain a cordial relationship. There is a kind of trend in the media to portray Police in poor light. This sends a wrong message to society," he said and added media should portray the ills of society.

As part of the event, a documentary on traffic awareness prepared by the students was screened and a website that provides employment was opened.

University of Mysore Administrative Officer Srinivas, retired professor Usharani, Department Head Prof. Maheshchandraguru, Assistant Professor Dr. M.S. Sapna and Prof. Ramachandra were present.

Police Constable dies of heart attack

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (RK&KS)- A 27-year-old Constable attached to Kuvempunagar Police Station died after suffering from a massive heart attack yesterday morning. The deceased Constable is Nagendra, son of Javaranayaka and a resident of Chikkabherya in K.R. Nagar taluk. Nagendra had joined the Police Department four years ago.

Nagendra, after completing his night shift on Wednesday, was leaving the Police Station to his house when he complained of severe chest pain. His colleagues immediately took him K.R. Hospital, where the doctors after examining Nagendra told his colleagues that Nagendra had suffered a heart attack and advised them to get him admitted to Jayadeva Hospital. But Nagendra breathed his last while being shifted to Jayadeva Hospital, according to Kuvempunagar Inspector.

The body was shifted to MMC&RI mortuary, where post-mortem was conducted and the body was later handed over to his family members.

Kuvempunagar Inspector and staff accompanied the body to Chikkabherya village, where the last rites were performed.

Fire destroys materials at hardware shop

KRS, Oct. 5 (KS) - Materials worth over Rs. 50 lakh was destroyed in a fire caused by short circuit at a hardware shop near Hosa Anandur Gate near KRS last night.

The incident took place at Santosh Hardware, belonging to Chethan, a resident of Mysuru.

Fire was noticed at the shop by the public at about 8 pm last night and immediately the Fire Service Station was informed. But by the time the fire extinguisher arrived, fire had already spread in the shop destroying the materials stocked inside the shop.

Fire and Emergency Services personnel doused the fire and prevented it from spreading further.

Sudden death of 50 sheep shocks shepherds

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (SBD&KS)- The sudden death of 50 sheep at Badaganahalli village in the taluk has shocked the shepherds who had brought the flock from Shira taluk in Tumakuru district.

It is learnt that the shepherds after bringing the flock had halted in Badaganahalli village where 50 sheep died suddenly and many in serious condition.

Animal Husbandry Department Deputy Director Dr. Ajith and staff, who rushed to the spot, inspected the dead sheep and have collected samples which have been sent to the Veterinary Science Department for testing.

It is suspected that the sheep may have died of poisoning or due to some illness. The exact cause for the death would be known only after the conduct of post-mortem.

Ex-DGP Dinakar no more

Bengaluru, Oct. 5 - Former Deputy General of Police (DGP) C. Dinakar (77) passed away in the wee hours of Thursday at Manipal Hospital. According to Police officials, the retired DGP had slipped and fallen inside his bathroom five days ago. Police received information about the same and broke open the bathroom door and rushed him to Manipal Hospital in Bengaluru.

C. Dinakar

A resident of Indiranagar, he suffered multiple injuries and had also sustained a fracture in one of his legs. Officials said that "age was the factor going against him." He was undergoing treatment at the hospital and failed to recover.

Last rites were held at Kalpalli Cemetery on Thursday evening.

He was well-known for the role he played in tackling underworld criminal activities in Bengaluru. The former DGP played a crucial role in the Special Task Force (STF) which was formed to rescue thespian Dr. Rajkumar from Veerappan who had held the former hostage for 108 days.

In 2014, a defamation case against Dinakar, lodged by Siddhartha, son-in-law of former External Affairs Minister S.M. Krishna, was dismissed by a division of the Delhi High Court. The issue was surrounding Dinakar's book chronicling the capture of late actor by Veerappan. Siddhartha, owner of the Coffee Day Group of Hotels, alleged that parts of the book titled 'Veerappan's Prize Catch: Rajkumar,' were defamatory in nature against him.

Prior to this, in 2003 the DGP was caught in another scuffle when he claimed that then Chief Minister S.M. Krishna and then State Home Minister Mallikarjun Kharge were conspiring to target his credibility.

Over a cup of evening Tea

By Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem, MD

A Journey back to Jukeboxes & Jim Reeves !

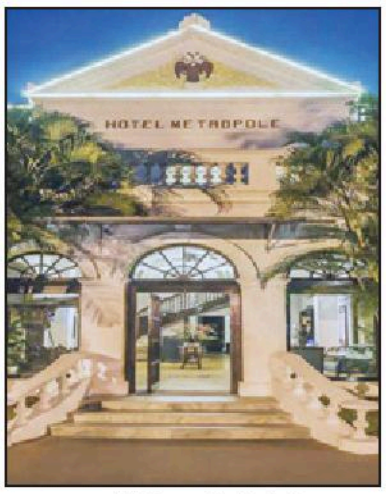
Going by the feedback I've been getting over the past few days, my last article about the enchanting moments my wife and I spent, over weekend dinners at the Gun House Imperial and Metropole Hotel, a little more than three decades ago, seems to have awakened much nostalgia among readers. While some called up or wrote to say that they were sometimes quite disappointed with their experience at these two places, most said that they too were reminded of the old-world charm that I have written about. Some seemed a little prematurely excited that with the re-opening of the Gun House restaurant they too would soon get a chance to hitch a ride on my time-machine and re-live the magical moments I had written about.

Yes, they certainly were magical moments. Where else could you have seen a royal couple dancing in a trance, barely a couple of feet away from where you were seated ! Yes, the late Prince Srikanta Datta Narasimharaja Wadiyar and his wife Princess Pramoda Devi used to be on the dance floor of the Gun House quite regularly and the lady was quite a charming dancer! In fact, in those days, while her husband could be seen quite often on the cricket grounds of the Manasagangothri campus, the Gun House was the only place where you could see her as she hardly used to socialise in public view.

Unlike the Gun House which was a tiny place, the Metropole Hotel was a comparatively large building with lush green lawns around it. With its twenty-two very spacious rooms, it was once the guest house where the Maharaja's foreign guests stayed whenever they visited Mysore. At the time when we used to go there, it was the best and most exclusive destination for a quiet and timeless experience and my wife and I somehow were no less than any royal couple to its staff !

There was its very long-serving Manager, Ghulam Ahmed Khan, a very lean and wiry man, always impeccably attired in a dark suit who would notice your presence and quickly whisper appropriate instructions to his staff to see that you received the best service. I always used to wonder if this man even slept in his suit and tie as until his last day I had never seen him in any other attire at any time!

Gun House Imperial



Metropole Hotel

Even long after the old Metropole Hotel closed down, we used to meet regularly at the Alumni Association meetings of St. Philomena's College where we both studied a quarter century apart ! To ensure that his orders were carried out to the last letter, there was Hameed, the short and slightly plump, ever-smiling steward from Tamil Nadu who from a very respectable distance would always be on the lookout for any sign that you were in need of something.

And, down the line was Jayaprakash or JP, as he was known to all who knew him. He was the head waiter who like the genie from Alladdin's lamp, would always be over-eager to get you all that you desired to eat or drink. Even now he works just as hard but at a different place and whenever he meets our family of four he never fails to tell my children interesting stories of how he once used to drink only genuine scotch and smoke only imported cigarettes offered to him as baksheesh by foreign guests pleased with his service!

Incidentally, bang opposite the Metropole stood the very staid and conservative Modern Hindu Hotel in the white colonial style building which has now become the Hoysala. It served only vegetarian fare then but because it had some of the cleanest rooms available in Mysore then, it was the place where budget-conscious people always stayed. The very interesting thing about this place was that it had as its Manager a khadi-clad gentleman named Giri who was completely blind! But mind you, he knew the layout of the place like the back of his hand and he never allowed his visual impairment to become a stumbling block in any of his activities, let alone his work. He could always be found walking quite briskly around the place, going in and out of rooms and even getting up and down steps and stairways as if he was someone gifted with normal sight!

A few readers older than me wanted to know if I knew about a few other places that used to be their favourite haunts at a time when fine dining was what a good life was all about. Yes, there were very few places in good old Mysore which offered it but the place which stood out was Gayland on Curzon Park Road which is now called Harsha Road. It served the best Mutton Cutlets and the best Mutton Biryani then but that was not what it was most famous for. It was the only place in Mysore which had a Jukebox!

Now, you need not be puzzled if you do not know what a jukebox was. It was a large cabinet-sized coin-operated machine which played songs of your choice from a huge stack of 78rpm gramophone records when you inserted a twenty-five paise coin. Upon your command, a robotic arm would pick one up and place it on the turn-table as if by magic ! Although twenty-five paise was almost a princely sum then just to listen to one song, most people amazed by the technology, never minded parting with it to see the machine in action!

My favourite singer then was Jim Reeves who died very young in an air crash on 31st, July, 1964, at the prime of his life and career. In his song 'He'll have to go' penned by Joe and Audrey Allison, he makes a reference to the Jukebox of the yesteryears! Jim continues to be my favourite singer even to this day and the only man I know in Mysuru now who sings his songs like Jim himself is my friend Thomas Chandy. That is why whenever I bump into Tom at some celebration like a wedding or a birthday party, I always request him to sing me a few Jim Reeve's numbers and he always obliges!

Nostalgia is wine indeed and since it is the only one I drink, I will always remain intoxicated by it !

10 inmates from Mysuru Central Jail walk free

Mysuru, Oct. 5 (RK&BCT)- Mysuru Central Jail this morning released 10 inmates (technically 9 as one inmate has completed his jail term) convicted in petty crimes (that attracted simple imprisonment) as part of the amnesty scheme offered by the Centre on the occasion of Mahatma Gandhi's 150th birth anniversary. The 10 inmates were among the 45 inmates who were released from various prisons across the State, according to officials.

Prison officials said that among those to be released have served almost two-third of their jail sentence and were convicted for crime which exclude murder, rape, kidnap and other serious offences including dowry death, human trafficking and those who have been convicted under POCSO Act.

The proposal to release prisoners was accepted by the State government on Oct. 1, while the actual release took place today. The release is a goodwill gesture on the occasion of 150th Gandhi Jayanti observed on Tuesday.

The Committee which came up with the list and sent to the Central Government comprised Additional Chief Secretary, Home, Principal Secretary of Law, Director General of Police (Prisons) and Additional Director General of Police (Prisons).

Those who were released from Mysuru Jail were Erappa from Vaddarahalli village, Arakalagud Taluk, Hassan; Thimmegowda of Nelamane village; Nagaraja alias Naga from Menasa village in Somwarpet, Kodagu; H.P. Shivakumar of Nalkeri village; Chandrashekar of Nanjangud; Chennappa and Annappa from Halagandur village, Tarikere Taluk in Chikkamagaluru; Shivalinga of Hootagalli in Mysuru; Raju from Belur village in Hassan and Devaraju of Chikkarasanapalya at Sathyamangala in Erode District of Tamil Nadu.

Among the convicts who were released, Devaraju of Chikkarasanapalya had completed his jail term on Oct. 3 and he was due to be released. So, technically, nine convicts were released today. Principal District and Sessions Judge S.L. Vantigodi released the prisoners and as part of the release, blankets that were prepared by the jail inmates were presented to the freed jail birds.

Also, three books on Mahatma Gandhi — "Gandhi and Freedom Struggle", "Mahatma Gandhi in Jail" and "Gandhi's Global Outlook" — were gifted to them. District Surgeon Dr. M. Pashupathi, Sister Joyce from Prison Ministry India NGO, Principal of Prison Training School V. Shesha Murthy and Jail Superintendent P.B. Ananda Reddy were present.

Addressing the inmates, Judge Vantigodi advised them to lead a respectable life. "While committing the crime, you would not have realised that your freedom will be snatched. Freedom is the greatest gift for a human being and life inside the four walls of a jail is un-nerving most of the times," he said.

A jail teaches a convict about values of life and will enable him to chart a path of reformation. "Even a hardened criminal is softened up and his nature and outlook changes inside the regimental life of a prison," he said.

GARBAGE CITY

SHRAMDAN: Staff of Gopala Gowda Hospital sweeping D. Devaraja Urs Road on which Pourakarmikas had dumped garbage.

Uncollected garbage bins, overflowing drainages, garbage strewn at all street corners, street dogs, pigs and cows rummaging on the waste were a common sight. With stinking garbage strewn all over the roads, the public, especially office-goers and schoolchildren were seen covering their noses while passing through garbage-filled stretches.

The discontented civic workers want the contract system of hiring Pourakarmikas abolished and have sought direct employment by MCC. This is their main demand among the other demands.

Following mounds of garbage all over the road, the MCC officials were forced to clear garbage at various places. Health Officer Dr. D.G. Nagaraj, speaking to Star of Mysore, said that he, along with a few MCC officers and permanent Pourakarmikas, cleaned a few localities at Tilaknagar, Mandi Mohalla, Nazarbad, near Suburban Bus Stand and other core areas. He alleged that as they were cleaning and moving further, the protesting civic workers were dumping garbage on the roads.

Forest Minister distributes kits to Mahouts

Mysuru, Oct.5 (MTY&DM)- With the count down for Dasara festivities already begun, Forest Minister R. Shankar distributed kits containing articles of daily use to Mahouts and Kavadis of 12 Dasara elephants, at a programme organised in the Palace premises this morning.

The kits contained a jerkin, a pair of shoes, uniform, belt, cap, umbrella and other articles.

Speaking to press persons on the occasion, Shankar said that the kits were distributed by the Forest Department and the family members of Mahouts and Kavadis were overjoyed.

Replying to a question on the Palace Board's request to take back three Palace elephants, the Minister said the Forest Department was considering the request.

Goof-up at wildlife expo irks photographers

Later, Forest Minister R. Shankar inaugurated a 3-day photo expo organised by Forest Department as part of Wildlife Week, at Suchitra Art Gallery, Kalamandira.

The expo features about 112 photographs, including two taken by Mysuru DC Abhiram G. Sankar (spotted owlet and purple sun bird). The expo will be open to public till Oct. 7 between 10.30 am and 4.30 pm.

While the theme of the expo was 'Wildlife and Mysuru Region Bio-diversity,' almost all photos displayed were on wildlife. Many photographers who shot rare photographs on Bio-diversity, complained to SOM that the Forest Department had rejected en masse many award-winning photographs on Biodiversity, for reasons best known to it.

Maintaining that most of the photographs on Biodiversity sent to the Forest Department for display at the expo were rejected, the photographers alleged that the captions of several photographs on display too were wrong and when the goof-up was brought to the notice of the Department, the forest officials simply removed the captions, without correcting them.

Prithvi Sho(a)w

Prithvi Shaw made history on Thursday by becoming the youngest Indian to score a Test century on debut.

New Delhi, Oct. 5- Prithvi Shaw, all of 18 years and 329 days, making his Test debut for India against the West Indies in Rajkot, ran on to the field in the morning with the energy and hunger that only a teenager can have at the start of his career. It was there on show in Karachi in 1989 — when Sachin Tendulkar, then just 16, faced up to the finest pace attack in the world.

Prithvi Shaw became the youngest Indian to score a Test century on debut as he scored a fluent 134 against the West Indies in the first Test in Rajkot on Thursday. Shaw reached the historic three-figure mark off just 99 balls.

But you need more than that to do well in international Tests. Especially if you are an opening batsman making your debut, albeit against a set of bowlers who aren't exactly as fearsome as Wasim Akram, Imran Khan and Waqar Younis, the trio Tendulkar faced.

But on an opening morning, with five catchers behind the wicket waiting for you to make a mistake, Shaw only needed to err once. That he didn't signs him off as a special talent.

WORD OF THE DAY

Quietude

Pronunciation: Qui-etude
Meaning: A state of stillness, calmness, and quiet in a person or place.
Origin: The word quietube has two origins — one from French and the other from Latin. In late 16th century, from Middle French word 'quiétude' or directly from Late Latin word 'quietudo', from Latin 'quietus' which means "free or calm, resting".
Example: The quietude of the early morning was broken only by the occasional chirping of birds.

THE ODD WORD

Misopogonist

Someone who hates beards.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

You can't have your cake and eat it too

Meaning: You cannot have two good but incompatible things at once.
Origin: Once the cake is eaten, it is gone, so this phrase is used to show that someone cannot have two incompatible things. An early example of this can be found in a letter from 1538, which states 'a man cannot have his cake and eat his cake.'
Example: She works so hard to pay for that luxurious house but because she works so hard, she never has any time to stay at home and enjoy it. I guess you really can't have your cake and eat it too.

QUOTE BOX

Listen to yourself and in that quietude you might hear the voice of God.

—Maya Angelou
